Estranged Husband Goes Berserk; Two Die by His Gunfire

Slayer Then Apparently Commits Suicide at Shelbyville Home

Shelbyville, Ill., Aug. 28 —(AP)—The body of a roller rink employee—the throat slashed and a hole in the head—was found in a park today and police attempted to learn if the killing was linked with a double slaying and a suicide that occurred last night.

The body of William Mogg, 33, was discovered this morning in a city park across the street from the skating rink where police said Donald Helton, 22-year-old farmer, fatally shot his 16-year-old bride and wounded her 12-year-old brother last night. Subsequently Helton's father was found slain and his mother wounded in their farm home. A further search disclosed young Helton's body and authorities said the youth had killed himself.

The gruesome find of Mogg's body was made by Raley Bryson, a park attendant, as Bryson was mowing the lawn. Sheriff Cecil Clausen said Mogg had been dead about ten hours and that he was trying to determine what weapon or missile produced the hole in the man's head.

Not Seen At Rink
Mogg told his mother, Mrs. C. W. Mogg, last night that he was going to the roller rink where he worked part time. The owner of the rink, Fred Ward, said Mogg had not reported there.

It was at the roller rink that Mrs. Jacqueline Helton, 16, Donald's bride, was shot to death and her brother, Walter Kneayem, 12, was critically wounded in the chest by Helton.

The other victims of the shooting were Earl Helton, about 60, Donald's father, who was killed; Mrs. Florence Helton, about 60, his mother, who was wounded in the chest by Helton.

Woman Tells How She Killed Spouse, Hacked Up Body

Chicago, Aug. 28—(AP)—A 60-year-old woman today was seized by police who said she had told them she had killed her husband with a hammer, hacked his body apart with a saw and dumped the parts into the Chicago river.

Mrs. Anna Sosnowski, 60, related the killing occurred Sunday during a quarrel in their north-west side apartment during which Sosnowski, a former mental hospital patient, tried to choke her. Police Captain George Homer said.

Homer added that the woman told him she made several trips to the north branch of the Chicago river to dispose of the body. The head and torso, as yet unrecovered, were dumped near the point where other parts were washed to the banks Tuesday, the captain said she told him.

The captain related other details as follows:

Mrs. Sosnowski, hysterical, was brought to the Racine avenue police station this morning by her son-in-law, Dr. L. J. Jausse, who said that at 3 a. m. she had come to his home and told of policemen being at her flat and that she did not know what to do.

She had reported her husband missing to the Racine avenue police yesterday. This morning police found that fingerprints from the hands taken from the river matched those of Sosnowski, made when he was admitted to the Kankakee state hospital.

Dr. Nauseda, a dentist married to Mrs. Sosnowski's daughter by a previous marriage, said the woman appeared "very upset" when she was at his home and he concluded she "had something on her mind." This morning he decided to take her to the police station.

The son-in-law said she and her husband were "heavy" drinkers and "quarreled continuously" but that the woman was a "hard worker" employed in a cleaning establishment.

When Police Lt. Leroy Steffens and Homer began questioning her at the station, she suddenly "became nervous and began blurt[ing] out details" of the killing.

Relates Death Scene

She declared her husband had been cruel to her and had "beaten her frequently." On Sunday afternoon, she said, he began beating her in the living room of her home.

Mrs. Sosnowski said she grabbed a hammer, struck him on the head and then sawed the body up. She said she wrapped it in sheets and newspapers and kept it in the apartment until after dark Sunday night.

Under the cover of darkness she made several trips to the river and dropped the packages in, she said.

Captain Homer reported police had resumed dragging the river in search for the missing head and torso.

Find Mute Evidence

When the parts of the body were identified, police began a search of the Sosnowski apartment at 1903 West North avenue where Steffens said his men found a small chip of what appeared to be a human bone and several hairs in the bathroom.

The lieutenant said the apartment bore evidence of a hasty flight by its occupants. In the kitchen, he said, were two copies of the Zgodna, Polish daily, dated Aug. 19 and 27. It was in copies of this newspaper that parts of the body found along the Chicago river were wrapped.

Steffens said FBI records showed Sosnowski was fingerprinted in September, 1946, as an alien and gave his birthplace as Poland. The files also showed that Sosnowski was committed to the Kankakee hospital as an "alcoholic psychopath" Sept. 18, 1938, the lieutenant said. He escaped twice but was recaptured. On Oct. 20, 1941 he fled for the third time and since has been at large.

Four Divorce Suits on File in Lee Co. Circuit Court Now

Injunction is Issued in One by Judge George Dixon This Morn

Four divorce suits are on file in Lee county Circuit court today, and Judge George C. Dixon has issued an injunction in one of them restraining Jack Plotkin from molesting his wife, Ida, and their two children or disposing of any property.

Mrs. Plotkin charges him with cruelty, alleging that he struck her Aug. 15, 1946, and struck and kicked her Aug. 23, 1946. They were married May 10, 1940, at Crown Point, Ind., and have two children, Seymour, 5, and Rosalee, 4.

She is asking for custody of the children and support money, and is represented by the law firm of Warner & Warner.

Three Other Actions

Mrs. Helen Sawicki, charging cruelty, claims that her husband, Henry, struck her May 12, and June 25, 1946, and March 15, 1947. They were married March 10, 1946, at Toledo, Ohio. She is represented by the firm of Dixon, Bales & Gunner.

Mrs. Florence Haase has charged her husband, Adolph L., with deserting her April 25, 1945. They were married Sept. 30, 1931, at

Communism Debate in Hollywood Scheduled

Los Angeles, Aug. 28—(AP)—The American Broadcasting Company says that of 10 Hollywood personalities asked, to speak on the affirmative in a radio debate, "Is Communism Really a Threat to Hollywood?" only one—Mrs. Lela Rogers, mother of Ginger Rogers—accepted.

An ABC spokesman said two speakers are needed for the affirmative on its town meeting program Sept. 2 and that the broadcasting company has been unable to obtain a second one.

Emmet Lavery, president of the screen writers guild, and Actor Albert Dekker, former state assemblyman, have agreed to take the negative side, ABC said.

The broadcasting firm said those who declined were Columnist Hedda Hopper, Screen Writer Howard Emmett Rogers, Producer Sam Wood and Film Players Edward Arnold, Adolphe Menjou, Robert Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck, Pat O'Brien and Ronald Reagan.

Reagan's studio said he had declined the offer for "reasons of health" and that he had already planned to accompany his wife, Jane Wyman, when she leaves Tuesday for work on a new film.

Council Warns Of Traffic Fatalities

Chicago, Aug. 28—(AP)—Thirty million automobiles will be on the nation's highways over the three-day Labor Day holiday, the National Safety Council estimated today and it said about 250 persons will be killed in traffic accidents.

The death toll estimate, the council said, applies only to immediate traffic fatalities and does not include persons who die later from injuries suffered in accidents during the three days or death from other types of accidents.

"We've been wrong on these estimates in the past, because sometimes the public takes to heart the warning that holidays are hazard days," said Ned H. Dearborn, council president. "We hope this is another one of those times and that the drivers and pedestrians cross up our statistics."

One Man Killed by Explosion at Big Crude Oil Processing Plant

Whiting Ind., Aug. 28 (AP)—A refinery worker was killed today in an explosion which rocked a portion of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana plant, causing the company to lose 21,000 barrels daily capacity for processing crude oil.

The dead man, Julius Kopaz, 52, of Whiting, a pumphouse helper, was found after several hours' search, in the pumproom where the explosion occurred.

Firemen fought flames which at first were brought under control then broke out again several hours later. Three workers, injured slightly, were given first aid treatment and returned to their jobs.

The explosion, which occurred in a pump house serving the company's No. 5 and 6 pipe stills, was heard for a radius of a mile

Absolve War Bride of Husband's Death

Crestview, Fla., Aug. 28—(AP)—An Okaloosa county grand jury today freed Mrs. Margaret Irene Poland, British war bride, of charges in the fatal shooting of her American soldier husband at Fort Wharton on July 24.

The grand jury reported its finding of no true bill against the 21-year-old native of the Isle of Man shortly after court convened today. The grand jury's decision apparently was made yesterday but the report was delayed because court was not in session.

"I think it's wonderful," Mrs. Poland said. "I'm sorry it all happened but I'm happy about the verdict."

She said her first move, now that she has been freed of the charges, will be to "get my baby back."

She had claimed that she shot her husband, Sgt. Graydon Poland in a quarrel after he had taken their 16-month-old son from her and sent him to his relatives in Tompkinsville, Ky.

Unhappy

Cleveland, Aug. 28 (AP)—Psychiatrists were asked today to examine an elderly couple who lost their home because they sent their mortgage payments to the wrong bank.

The examination order was issued by Municipal Judge John P. Busher after the unhappy pair, Stephen Zivich, 59, and his wife Pauline, 51—told him in broken English their payments were made by money order.

Producing the money orders in court, they said the bank had returned them all but that they took them to be their receipts.

So when the mortgage-holding bank foreclosed last July, they were so incensed they refused to take their furniture off the lawn and the case came to court.

Now Zivich, a presser at a tailoring company, lives with his wife in a rooming house. The hearing has been continued until Sept. 12.

Cooler Air Moves Into Midwest Area

(By The Associated Press)
Cooler air moved into the Midwest today after a slight warmup yesterday which caused some apprehension among heat-weary residents.

The Chicago weather bureau said a cold front was moving across southern Iowa this morning and pushing southward and eastward. Somewhat cooler temperatures were reported over Minnesota, northern Iowa, the Dakotas, Wisconsin and Michigan and was due to move into Illinois and Indiana this afternoon.

No sudden drop in temperatures accompanied the cool air, and a weather bureau spokesman said it "won't be so much cooler, but it will keep us from getting hot."

A few scattered thunderstorms were reported in Wisconsin, northern Illinois, Michigan and eastern Iowa overnight, but the rain was light and not likely to be of much benefit to crops.

Most of the rest of the country had fair weather and near normal temperatures.

Truman To Address Brazil Conference on Its Final Day

Treaty of Rio de Janeiro Nearly Completed; Final Session Being Held

Quitandinha, Brazil, Aug. 28—(AP)—Committees of the inter-American defense conference worked today to put the treaty of Rio de Janeiro into final shape as delegates looked forward to a visit next week from President Truman.

The United States delegation announced last night that the president, Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, would arrive in Rio from Washington next Monday. They will fly down in the presidential DC-6, the Independence.

The president is to address the closing session of the conference here Tuesday morning and witness the signature of a 19-nation hemisphere defense treaty, its end result, in Rio that afternoon. He will help celebrate the 125th anniversary of Brazilian independence the following Sunday and leave for home next day on the battleship Missouri.

An informed Colombian source said today the Colombian delegation might be asked to invite Truman to address the ninth international conference of American states in Bogota, Colombia, next January.

Committees Finish Up

Final committee sessions vied today with cocktail parties and receptions given by various delegations. A full conference meeting is to be held tomorrow for approval of treaty articles as drafted by the three main committees.

A special committee composed of representatives of the United States, Argentina and Chile scheduled a closed meeting with a mapmaker of the Brazilian national geographical institute to draft the outlines of a hemisphere pole-to-pole security region for submission to the full committee later in the day.

Military advisers to several delegations already were talking of establishment of a joint commission composed of chiefs of staff

Training Flights From Overseas to America Planned

Washington, Aug. 28 —(AP)—The United States will keep its biggest bombers shuttling between home bases and those in occupied Germany and Japan throughout the winter.

These "rotational" training flights, tried experimentally this summer, are evolving into a permanent and major part of the Army Air Forces' defensive strategy.

Satisfied with the experimental operations during the summer months, the AAF intends to keep the program going on an all-weather, year-round basis, officials indicated today.

Drastic Changes
While AAF leaders are reluctant to discuss the overseas strength situation, it is known that economy requirements and a changing strategic concept have brought about drastic changes in the air power picture abroad.

Persons visiting Europe in recent months have noted that virtually the only United States bombardment aviation there are the B-29 training missions making visits varying from a few weeks to several months. However, the schedule of these training missions has now been stepped up to the point where elements of the long range bomber force are almost constantly present in the European theater.

The situation of the air forces in the Pacific is understood to be somewhat better than in Europe and there, too, the rotational

Miscarriage

Anadarko, Okla., Aug. 28 —(AP)—Dry Chickasha, Okla., residents pondered the deceitful ways of Oklahoma weather today.

Three Chickasha men, Son King, Gordon Jones and Claude Welch, dumped 105 pounds of dry ice into a cloud 13,500 feet over Chickasha, hoping to make it rain in that city.

It rained all right, but by the time the dry ice had "worked," the cloud was over Anadarko, 19 miles west, and Anadarko enjoyed a one-half inch shower. Chickasha stayed dry.

Special Devices To Insure Safety at Barker's Trial

Armed Watchmen, Steel Bars on Windows of Vandalia Court

Vandalia, Ill., Aug. 28—(AP)—Steel bars were placed on the Fayette county Circuit court windows for the first time amid other precautionary measures planned today for the trial next week of Amel R. Barker, a 40-year-old St. Louis desperado charged with murder.

Barker, an ex-convict with a police record dating back to 1923, had been awaiting the Sept. 11, 1946, machinegun killing of Harry Mays, 31, an oilfield worker, in a nearby Shobonier tavern. FBI agents seized him last June 27 as he sat in a car parked at one of Chicago's busiest intersections, 63rd and Halsted streets.

The FBI took special precautions to prevent Barker from using any of seven loaded weapons

"Below Knee Club" Stages Big Rally

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 28 —(AP)—Shouting "keep prices down and hemlines up," Louisville's "Little Below the Knee Club" staged a downtown rally last night and, with a men's auxiliary, declared war on new fashions which call for longer skirts.

A cheering, whistling crowd listened to spokesmen who advanced several arguments for maintaining present hemline lengths.

Mrs. Belle Evans, club chairman, had this to say about long skirts: "You can't walk in them, also, they take too darn long to iron."

And W. H. Anderson, spokesman for the men's auxiliary, wanted to know why American women should have styles "forced upon them that they do not personally want."

Mrs. Neale Cox, who led the rally, said 1,265 Louisville women already had promised to keep the "status quo" of the hemline, and urged that neighborhood clubs be formed.

Continued Boom in Prices Either Good or Bad; Your Guess

Fear Sudden Price Drop as Much as Spiral of Living Costs

By MAX HALL
Washington, Aug. 28—(AP)—What happened to the predictions that a business "recession," or at least a price "adjustment," would occur in the summer or fall of 1947?

Well, the predictions eased off because many of the predictors have changed their minds. They now think the boom will stay with us until next year, and maybe longer.

This is either good or bad, depending on how you look at it.

The price "adjustment" that was so widely forecast and which is very likely to come sooner or later—would be a general drop in prices. It could come when people's wages or savings, or credit, or patience were no longer equal to the rising prices. The result would be a cut in their buying. Then the supply of goods would get a lot bigger than the demand.

Fear Sudden Price Drop
Naturally, people would like a general drop in prices. And economists think a gradual decrease would be a healthy all around.

But if prices fell too suddenly and too far, a lot of businesses would get hurt. They would have to lay off employees. People wouldn't like that.

For example, suppose Mr. Smith, a merchant, has bought a stock of overcoats. He had to pay high prices for them. Of course he expects to sell them at high prices.

Suddenly prices tumble. Low-priced overcoats flood the market. Smith is stuck. He has to sell at the low prices. He loses money. He lays off a salesman or two. He decides not to order that new air-conditioning system. The Smiths decide not to buy a new radio. And so on.

Drop May Be Frightful

Thus a price "adjustment," if it's too violent, can be a business "recession," with unemployment and other effects. And a "recession" that happens to hit the country at a time when economy is wobbly and vulnerable can be a "depression." Now, many economists believe that the longer the boom lasts, the worse the "adjustment" will be when it comes. The higher the prices go, the harder they can fall.

They say it would be a good thing if the "adjustment" could come soon, when it would be milder. Some say that if business roars along with high prices for three, four, or five years, the drop may be frightful.

Why did some of the experts guess wrong and predict a price decline too early?

Future A Mystery Now

For one thing, they thought people's purchasing power and patience would give out sooner. But the piled-up purchasing power from the war has been enormous. And they now say there is "still plenty of purchasing power in the hands of the people."

This is in the form of current income, savings and credit. There is still a lot of money flowing around.

For another thing, there is a pretty close parallel between 1920 and 1947, and some experts—it now appears—made the mistake of taking this parallel too literally.

In 1920 the postwar boom in prices ended with a plunge. These experts saw the same forces at work, and concluded that the same thing would happen.

And it may yet.

But the situation is not just the same as in 1920. The country's economy is sturdier in a number of ways than it was then. Most economists have concluded that we are in a new situation without exact parallel in any other year, and therefore today they don't pretend to know what will happen tomorrow.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 16 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of sleep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

City Streets Barred to Horses During Daylight

Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 28—(AP)—Dobbin will be kept off Huntington streets during the daylight hours of the summer months if city council approves a proposed ordinance.

The council is scheduled to act Sept. 8 on an ordinance which would bar the streets to travel by shod animals from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. during the period from May 1 to Sept. 30.

Councilman Elmer E. Barmmer, who brought up the matter, explained the shoes or horses were digging holes in the city's new blacktop street pavements during warm weather.

Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood — (AP)—Shirley Temple, 18-year-old screen veteran, thinks maybe she'll spend the rest of her natural life working before cameras.

Looking beautiful these days Shirley has had time to think about the future. She is a gal who has always known what she wanted and now she wants a life in the movies.

"Why not?" she asked, as she rested on the "War Party" set. "I like working in pictures. It's fun. I see no reason why I should quit." "But I wouldn't continue if I had to take small roles to keep working. There would be no luck in it then."

Shirley indicated she would like her career to continue as it has been going. She has no ambition to form her own company and produce films. But she would like to direct. I pointed out that there are no female directors (of pictures) in Hollywood today.

"That shouldn't be," she complained. "Women should be good directors. They have more imagination than men. They are better bards."

Shirley isn't worried about career interruptions, such as having babies. Look at Crawford, she cited. "Being out of pictures didn't hurt her. She's more popular than she ever was."

"I think the public remembers. Take Mary Pickford. I have never seen her on the screen, but I'd certainly be interested in seeing her if she came back in a movie."

And look at the Temple comeback I said blithely.

"Aha!" she corrected. "That's where people are wrong. They tell me I made a comeback when actually I was never away. It was Fox's fault. When I quit there at 11, they said I was retiring from the screen."

But at 12 I made 'Kathleen' at MGM and at 13 I made 'Miss Annie Rooney' for Eddie Small. Neither of them was any good, but I was working. And at 14 I signed with Selznick and made 'Since You Went Away'."

WASHINGTON AS SEEN BY EDSON

(Peter Edson is on vacation)
By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
Washington, Aug. 25 (NEA)—With the dust temporarily settled on the Howard Hughes investigation and life in the Capital back to a sort of scorched normal there remains only one group of individuals left with any mentionable volume of dander still up over the whole thing.

They're the members of the American Public Relations Association. They are the public relations counsels—emphasis on the word "counsels" because that's how they show that they are different from publicity agents—of the nation's largest firms and trade organizations. They feel their activity is a legitimate function in the modern business world. That's why they're irked over what the public must think of the publicity business as a whole as a result of some of the exposures of the Hughes' probe.

Once a week the APRA members have lunch to hash over the current pliability of the public mind, listen to a guest speaker and draw for a door prize. At the last meeting the subject of the activities of Johnny Meyer, Hughes' publicity man, came in for a lot of hot, but strictly informal discussion. Naturally the APRA couldn't officially comment on Meyer's business ethics. And the individual members wouldn't let themselves be quoted because they represent firms which might do business with Hughes. But they did talk.

Public Relations And Public Relations

The gist of their criticism of Meyer's particular brand of public relations was that it was "irresponsible" and placed too much emphasis on liquor and women. They seemed to think that a higher type of public relations puts more emphasis on education of the whole public rather than on exposing key members of the public to free liquor and the intellectual conversation of pretty girls.

When you pinned them down, however, they found it hard to draw a fine line on the value of liquor in public relations work. Every member talked to at the luncheon admitted that practically every expense account they turned in including buying somebody drinks in the line of business. And they admitted that it was impossible to fix arbitrarily the number of drinks you might have to buy at any one time.

On top of that, most of the APRA members questioned admitted that at one time or another they, too, had used female charm in various innocent ways of course, to decorate an evening or to tone up an informal business meeting.

So when you finally got down to it, Meyer's chief sin as far as the APRA members go was his failure to educate the public as a whole on the merits of his boss's airplane at the expense of concentrating on educating Elliott.

North Of Ice Cream

As an example of the highest type of public relations practiced in America, however, the members recommended reporting the words of the guest speaker Robert H. "Bob" North, representing the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers. And from what North had to say it appears it's much tougher to sell ice cream cones than airplanes.

First, the goal of the industry is to be producing one billion gallons of ice cream by 1955 which is the equivalent of 50 billion ice cream cones. To do this the industry has to pressure the farmers to produce more milk and make less ice cream of their own. Because the ice cream business is now using more than 100,000,000 pounds of nuts and fruits, the industry also has to pressure the fruit and nut growers to increase their crops. Those are primary problems.

Next, they're working on getting housewives in the habit of taking home five-gallon cans of ice cream instead of buying it in quarts and pints which the new refrigerators permit. To do this, and encourage ice cream eating generally, the ice cream association is making several movie shorts sending lecturers around to schools and expert nutritionists to state and local health authorities. The whole campaign is topped off with the claim that ice cream isn't fattening.

TWINS AND TRIPLETS

There were 11,127 cases of twins in every 1,000,000 confinements in Canada recently, as compared with 10,671 in the United States while triplets occurred only 80 times in every 1,000,000 confinements in the United States.

Powers Strive to Retain Remains of Their Old Empire

Freedom Movement by Chattels Worries Imperial Powers

By MAX HARRELSON

One of the most spectacular political trends since the end of the war has been the growing rebellion of dependent peoples against the great imperial powers that have ruled them.

The old fashioned brand of imperialism has been taking a terrific beating. But the colonial powers are still in there swinging. The Dutch struggle to hold Indonesia is a case in point. And it is noteworthy that other nations which own colonies, such as Belgium and France, are more than a little inclined to back up the Hollanders in United Nations debates.

It is not without justification that Winston Churchill and other leaders of the nations that won the last war have shown concern over the liquidation of empires. Among the victors no whole empires have been liquidated yet, but some big chunks of territory have been whittled away. Among the losers the Japanese empire is gone, of course, and Italy's chances of retaining much of her overseas possessions are not bright.

The Fever Spreads

British India has just won independence and has been reorganized as two new dominions.

The Philippine islands previously had been cut loose from the United States and became an independent republic on July 4, 1946.

Indonesia has been promised freedom by the Dutch and the republic of President Soekarno now is demanding that United Nations force the Dutch to go through with the plan.

Egypt has appealed to the security council to get British troops out of the Nile valley and to give her a free hand to take over the British-dominated Sudan.

Burma, Ceylon and the Malay states are struggling for freedom and it seems likely they will at least be given a greater degree of autonomy.

Vast Changes in Making

France has agreed to the incorporation of the two Indochinese states of Tonkin and Annam into the republic of Viet-Nam within the framework of the French union.

Important groups in French North Africa and Madagascar are demanding independence.

These changes obviously are important. It may be premature to say that imperialism is dead or even on its way out but certainly it has changed its forms. The imperial powers are revising their tactics in various ways and they are not surrendering without a struggle. It is noted that in almost every instance, the ruling power has succeeded in keeping a finger in the pie.

The two new Indian states, for instance, are dominions of Britain and are being wooed with intentions to keep them in the British Commonwealth. Indonesia would remain under the Dutch crown. Viet-Nam will continue as a free part of the French empire—called a union.

Seek Release of Man Fined $200 for Meal in Park in Chicago

Chicago, Aug. 28—(AP)—A Chicago Bar Association committee and a state prosecutor today were investigating the case of Albert Yoos, 45-year-old baker, who on Aug. 19 was sent to jail in lieu of a $200 fine imposed after he was found eating some bread and frankfurters in a vacant lot. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

Yoos, who had $1,530 on his person, was fined $200 by Judge Justin F. McCarthy of Municipal court on Aug. 19 and has since been serving out the fine at the rate of $2 a day rather than pay it.

Leon M. Despres, vice chairman of the bar association committee on defense of prisoners said his group felt Yoos got a "raw deal" and that he had found no evidence that the German-born baker had committed any offense to justify the fine.

John J. Faessler, chairman of the committee, said the group was "studying means of getting Yoos released and having his conviction set aside."

Suspected Carrier of Typhoid Being Sought

Stockton Calif., Aug. 28—(AP)—County health officials today sought a "typhoid carrier"—individually immune to the disease—as the probable cause of 11 cases of typhoid fever among College of the Pacific students and employees this month.

health department said all the cases had been traced to the college cafeteria, but that investigators failed to find any evidence of contamination in food or drinks served there, and that circumstances indicated "there might be a old-time employee who is a typhoid carrier." Tests of employees have thus far been negative.

Most of the 11 victims were summer session students.

A Thought for Today
What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?—Romans 8:31.

God, the Great Giver, can open the whole universe to our gaze in the narrow space of a single lane.—Tagore.

Framework for Dictator
Unpleasant as the fact may be to Americans schooled in the British tradition of liberty, the Labor government is following the pattern of dictatorship in every particular.

That pattern has become as fixed as a proposition in Euclid. It begins with an enormous extension of bureaucracy which exerts complete control over all industry, and binds the country fast in a maze of red tape. Private capital is destroyed through taxation and the expropriation. The basic industries are then nationalized, on the grounds that free enterprise is no longer capable of meeting the needs of the nation. The rights of labor are restricted, and men are forced into employment which they do not desire. Finally, in the long run, opposition is stifled and civil liberties go the way of economic liberties.

Mr. Attlee and the other ministers are not tyrants. But the Labor government has established the machinery which makes tyranny possible. That is the point which Winston Churchill has been arguing with great force in his opposition speeches. Well-meaning men set the stage—and the dictators follow.

The Labor government has created the super-state in the name of British economic rehabilitation. But all the evidence of history proves that socialism is essentially non-productive. It destroys initiative, by refusing owners and workers the fruits of their efforts. It rules by force and fear—and no man does his best under those conditions. The individual becomes a cipher—the state becomes all. The relationship is that of master and slave.

Worst of all, in the words of the Portland Oregonian, "The present extension of socialism was inherent in the first adoption of socialism. It is a system from which there is no turning back, once the resources of private enterprise have been sucked into the state." Every American should memorize that plain truth. All forms of dictatorship feed upon themselves like a fungus. Those who think a little bit of socialism in the United States may be a good thing are, knowingly or otherwise, giving hostages to fortune. A nation can have democracy or it can have dictatorship. It cannot mix the two and survive as a free country.

First white man to set foot in California was Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, in 1542.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

New York—Among my personal heroes of the war against the foul aggressors is Garrett C. Wilcox, of 158 East Main St., Westfield, N. Y., a traveling drummer in thread for the J. P. Coates people. Soon after Franklin D. Roosevelt unseathed his terrible swift sword, Mr. Wilcox sprang to his side to frustrate any and all evil machinations of an unscrupulous foe and lay down his life in that sweet cause, it need be.

Late in June, 1943, Private Wilcox was sent in a draft of men from Fort Dix, N. J., to the 240th M.P. Battalion, Zone of Interior (special), a secret organization whose mere existence the very press itself was forbidden to suggest. Arrived at his new station, he learned that he was one of 66 men selected from Dix and Camp Upton, Long Island, for the solemn duty and unspendable honor of guarding the lives of the president and the members of his family and his guests—and his property, including buildings, Christmas trees and shrubbery and his dog, Fala. All these persons, all this property and this dog were charges on the patriotism, military proficiency and conscience of Pvt. Wilcox.

He entered this personal phase of the conquest of Hitler and Tojo with a heavy but, paradoxically, light sense of heroic responsibility. If the time ever came when it should be necessary to interpose his tall, slim but snappy body between Hitler's S.S. or any suicidal squad of Japanese and the person of his C-in-C, he would do so with adequate resolution if not with the fanatical fatalism of a true guardsman of an elite corps. Having some education, including a little reading in psychology, Pvt. Wilcox had moments of private impudence when he told himself that he was a fugitive from combat. The better he performed his duties at Hyde Park, N. Y., including the clearing of underbrush which was choking the leader's paths, the less likely he was to lay down his life for the four freedoms or any of them. The regular civilian pay for clearing brush thereabouts was $5 a day plus $1 for transportation.

The 240th was organized as a company but was expanded into a battalion of unconventional organization. The commanding officer was John P. Stowell. He had come through an officers' candidate school in the summer of 1942. As a company commander he was promoted to first lieutenant. When his command was called a battalion and increased to 384 officers and enlisted soldiers, he rose to the rank of major. He is still a major and now commands the M.P. detachment at the Military Academy at West Point. The 240th M.P. Bn., Z.I. (special) was disbanded forever at Fort Jackson, S. C. in May, 1945. A small guard of honor was established by special process of the war department for further duty at the shrine of each patriot's devotion at Hyde Park.

By available accounts, including that of Pvt. Wilcox, Major Stowell performed his duty well. The 240th was intended to be a spit-and-polish outfit, perfectly dressed and propitious in saluting. Pvt., now Master, Wilcox says he will throw salutes with any veteran of his majesty's Goldstream, the old Prussian Guard or any survivor of Hitler's own body-loyal guard, at any style, at any time, for a side-bet.

"One of our lieutenants told me that Major Stowell wanted us to salute and march like the Goldstream," Mr. Wilcox said. "I never saw the Goldstream salute or march, but I think we must have been at least their equal. We had plenty of practice."

About his own, personal marching Mr. Wilcox is less confident. Marching was one of his troubles. He was born without a sense of rhythm. Some people can't tell red from green. Some can't "carry" a tune. Mr. Wilcox never could learn to dance and when he was drafted he couldn't keep in step. "I know what you are going to say," Mr. Wilcox said, "but please don't. They weren't all out of step with me. I was the one who was out of step."

But when the sergeants and the officers would say, "Come, now, Wilcox, that is no way to make the world safe for peace-loving democracies," Pvt. Wilcox would say, "but does it really matter what foot I get there on as long as I get there at the same time as the others?"

"I mean," Pvt. Wilcox would say, "after all, there's a war to be won and this seems such a trifle. Let us get on with democracy's irresistible surge."

Mr. Wilcox insists that Major Stowell tried to make an impression on President Roosevelt on those irregular occasions when the commander-in-chief was "in residence" at our American Sandringham. That would be a laudable desire in a C. O. Sometimes, of course, one may remember, other personages of stupendous importance arrived at Hyde Park to confer on the shape of this or that contour of the brave new world of the future. Churchill? Princess Martha? Madam Chiang? Who might know? Far better the comment "a tiny body of men, sir" than "oh, yes; Americans! Very quaint!"

Pvt. Wilcox read once in the column of Eleanor the Great that the 240th M. P. Bn., Z. I. (special), the largest and most elaborately special corps of its kind ever organized to guard an American president was actually a school for M. P.'s. With a blush and a stammer for his temerity, he insists that a lady who undertakes to know everything must make some mistakes. Mr. Wilcox says that those who performed their duties best were practically assured that they would not be sent abroad to fight. Less desirable guardsmen who expressed irreverent sentiments, who did not salute or march like Goldstreams, who slept on post and drank too much beer in the village points where the lower orders gathered, were liable to transfer. Briefly put, the better the Guardsmen the more secure he.

Major Stowell, being still a soldier, is unable to speak for publication at all. One officer has said that the replacements in the 240th M. P. Bn., Z. I. (special) exceeded 100 per cent. But that still could mean that, as Mr. Wilcox

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington — Mr. Truman found the lost figures in his fiscal midyear budget review. Although dollar volume of business and income have been increasing since January, no one around the Treasury has been able to find the figures showing how much this would increase receipts, and thus justify the Republican tax reduction. Inquiring reporters were chased off after wild goose-chases. When the June 15 quarterly income taxes came in to the Treasury till, the Democratic actuaries should have been able to estimate immediately how much more money they would take in this present year than they had figured. But the Republican tax reduction bill was then under consideration in congress, so the actuaries just looked dumb, and pointed to the daily treasury statement, which is an unrelenting generalization of matters fiscal.

By June 30, this statement showed receipts were actually down the first six months of this year over last, instead of up above the budget calculations. (see column dated July 9 for details.) Even at the fiscal year end, Treasury Secretary Snyder merely estimated the surplus larger than expected for the closing year, and warned against tax reduction, as you will recall.

By this little fiscal ruse, the Democrats caused the Republicans to use the six month old budget estimates of last January, which kept them on the defensive, and forced them to justify any tax reduction by the amount of economies they could make.

Do you catch on? The strategem is a little complicated. It had to be to fool the Republicans. But in the customary nuthell in use around Washington, the Democrats simply delayed acknowledging how much their receipts will be larger this fiscal year until the Republicans were safely out of town, and all chance of tax reduction this year had passed.

Now Mr. Truman has found the lost figures. His receipts estimate, he concedes, will be $4 billion higher than he figured in January. His receipts he now puts at $41.7 billion; expenditures $37 billion; surplus $4.7 billion. all of says, 70 per cent of the original cast were still saluting smartly, pointing on cigarette butts and clearing brush for the leader when cruel fate removed the reason for the existence of the command. Mr. Wilcox says a few men were court-martialed, some were allowed to go overseas to escape trial and, finally, after D-Day in Europe, 70 of the less ornate saluters were sent to Fort Niagara to join an overseas company of M. P.'s. Some, however, who had fine records applied for transfers to the war and several of them earned commissions.

which he wants to use for debt reduction apparently (suggesting his "right time" for the "right kind" of tax reduction will not come until after next June 30, when the presidential campaign starts).

The general Truman midyear budget picture presents this nation as rich and powerful, much better off than expected, doing better business, its people earning larger incomes and all that.

One significant figure he fails to mention, one of his own figures. In his economic review earlier, he predicted national income for this calendar year at $167 billion. His budget, he now says, will raise $41.7. Apply these figures to the same period, which is reasonable, and you will conclude the federal government is taking 25 cents of every dollar to be earned by its people. Roughly 25 per cent of the national income is to be taken by the federal government in taxes.

Some actuaries will wonder how rich a country really is which must contribute 25 per cent of earnings to the cost of government. Actually the Truman budget shows he has a new spending program 5 to 10 times larger than Mr. Roosevelt ever suggested for performance. Mr. Truman is spending $10.4 billion for defense; 7.5 billion for veterans and $5.1 billion for interest (much of which is recaptured by taxation he does not estimate.) This is his spending program replacing the Roosevelt "Relief".

Several flaws are apparent in the whole affair which make it somewhat academic, or certainly a subject for political rather than serious discussion. This "midyear review" is not in the middle of anything except politics. August is not the middle of the calendar year or the fiscal year. Indeed the fiscal year, with which it deals solely, is now only in its second month.

Similarly it is founded on the declared assumption that prices,

DOCTOR WOODWARD'S AMBITION By Elizabeth Seifert
(©) by Elizabeth Seifert. Distributed by NFA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Pop McAn, hospital Chief of Staff, chief of the inactive forces on him by a partially paralyzed stroke. He tells Dr. Malcolm Glenn, top obstetrical surgeon and Acting Chief, that Woodward, the new staff doctor, is due to arrive soon. Dr. Martin Glenn, Malcolm's brother, is to have with Susan, Malcolm's nurse. Nancy is Malcolm's wife, Pete and Jerry are his sons. Dr. Woodward arrives. He is immediately envious of Malcolm's position, his luxurious office, his attractive nurse. He plans to undermine Malcolm, woo his nurse. While out walking, he meets Malcolm's wife. They have a drink together at a student's hangout. Andrew Flatter, Nancy's suitor, is so attracted to her that he invites her and his mother to dinner on Friday night.

FROM a hostess's point of view the dinner on Friday night went very well. Of course, Martin was late coming home, but in a doctor's house such emergencies become the expected thing. Nancy kept her promise to Andrew and invited no one but the Woodwards and Brian Cox.

Little Mrs. Woodward was a personage; everyone recognized that. "She looks like a raisin," Pete had said, watching her come up the front walk to the house. And that was an exact description. She was tiny and wrinkled, her thin hair was drawn tightly back into a knot at the peak of her oval skull. Her eyes were black and snapped with the vigor of her thoughts and opinions.

Even Brian and Nikki leaned forward to listen to what she had to say. Time and again Malcolm's deep laughter rang out, and he found himself arguing spiritedly with the little lady. "First woman I ever knew who could argue impersonally," he praised her as they went back to the living room for coffee.

Andrew sat in the corner of the over-sized couch, Mac spread in adoration across his shoe, and studied Nancy. She was a lovely person. Tonight she wore an artfully draped gown of black chiffon, its only decoration three small, well placed bowknots of pale green satin ribbon. Her light hair, brushed high, reflected this silver, greenish tint. She was as beautiful as her daughter, and as poised for adventure, for excitement. As she sat on the rose-flowered love-seat beside Malcolm, Andrew wondered when Dr. Glenn had last noticed that his daughter's eyes sparkled like stars, or that she had really lovely feet and ankles.

IT was at this point that Martin arrived, a bit startled to realize that he was late to a party. He came in with a word of contrite apology to Nancy. "I got tied up—I swear I forgot," he cried.

"How are you, Woodward?" He strode across the carpet to bend over Andrew's mother, his dark eyes quick to appreciate her charm.

"Have you eaten, Marty?" Nancy asked.

"No, but don't bother. I'll forage for myself."

"You will not?" Nancy told him. "I'll fix a tray—"

"I'll do it, Nancy," Nikki offered quickly. Brian untangled his long legs and followed her to the kitchen.

Martin chuckled. "I make a very good excuse," he murmured.

Nikki and Brian arranged Martin's armchair on the desk in the little study which opened from the far end of the living room. Martin went out to the stables, a little to kiss Nikki's soft cheek before he sat down. She giggled against him. "My favorite uncle," she purred.

Martin lifted a quizzical eyebrow. "Is this going to be a touch?"

Nikki laughed softly. "No, but I do want you to help me persuade

Rev. A. Wells Hears Vows in Setting of Flowers, Candles

Pink and white gladioli, garden flowers and pink candles formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Mary Francis Bogue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bogue, 804 Hennepin avenue, and Charles Logan Bain, son of Mrs. Ruby Davis, 1320 Sixth street, which took place at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bacon, at 903 Academy place the evening of Aug. 22. The Rev. A. J. Wells, pastor of the Assembly of God Mission, heard the vows.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Nancy Lutz of Sterling, pianist, and Mrs. Audrey Legler, clarinetist, played a group of selections. The latter also sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Love You Truly."

White Satin Gown

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in white satin gown fashioned with a fitted waist, lace yoke, long sleeves and full skirt. Her floor-length veil was held in place by a matching lace headpiece and in her bouquet were pink and white gladioli.

Mrs. Graff Talks, Shows Pictures to Club Department

Mrs. F. N. Graff of Glad Meadow, Freeport, first vice-president of the Thirteenth district of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, was guest speaker at the meeting of members of the Garden department of the Dixon Woman's club and their guests at the Loveland House yesterday. Her talk was on "Gladioli".

The speaker discussed the culture of the flowers as to soil requirements, and hybridizing or producing new varieties from seed. Mrs. Graff showed the spikes such as were displayed at flower shows and demonstrated how to arrange them for decoration, how to carry them to shows and how to ship them to distant cities by plane.

International Show

Mrs. Graff and her husband, Dr. F. N. Graff, recently returned from the international show at Farmington, N. Y., which is the largest exhibit of its kind held. Dr. Graff has hybridized several new types of blooms. Yesterday's speaker praised the work of those who are endeavoring to produce new specimens.

In addition to her talk, the district vice-president showed kodachrome pictures of some of the flowers in their garden and of the baskets and spikes which they entered at the flower show.

Questions Answered

Following the picture and her talk the speaker answered questions asked by those attending the meeting. Among them was one regarding the correct pronunciation and spelling of the name of the flower. Mrs. Graff stated that the National Gladioli society recently voted that the name should be "gladiolus" for both the singular and plural forms.

Garden department members will have a breakfast Friday morning, Aug. 29, at Lowell Park. At this time plans will be completed for the group's annual flower show to be held Sept. 11 and 12 at the Lutheran church.

Dig Deeper Into Housing Problem; May Hit Chicago

Deals in Chicago, L. A. Reported as Under Investigation

Washington, Aug. 28 — (AP)—
A federal grand jury which already has indicted two real estate organizations on anti-trust charges was called back into session today to dig deeper into the national housing price situation.
The National Association of Real Estate Boards, and the Washington real estate board were accused in indictments returned yesterday of conspiring to fix commission rates on property deals in the District of Columbia.
Word that the investigation is far broader, however, came from H. Clifford Bangs, former president of the Washington board. After appearing before the grand jury as a witness, he said transactions in such places as Chicago and California also are under study.
Artificial Restraints
The grand jury investigation began after Attorney General Clark ordered his anti-trust division to act against any conspiracies to boost housing, clothing and food prices. Commenting on the first indictments, Clark said in a statement: "Our inquiry into the housing field indicates that artificial restraints on competition, such as those involved in this matter, bear a definite relation to present high housing costs."
Sherman Act Violated
The indictment charges the national association's code of ethics requires members of local boards to charge commissions set by the local. It alleges that since February, 1943, brokers' commissions on sales of houses have gone up uniformly 25 to 50 percent, depending on the price classification.
At the same time the Justice department filed a civil anti-trust suit against the two real estate organizations, 15 officers and members of the Washington board and Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the national association.
The department's petition asked the court to hold that any provisions of the constitution and by-laws for uniform commission fees are a violation of the Sherman act.
The national association, with headquarters in Chicago, has 28,000 members and is affiliated with 800 local boards. The Washington affiliate has about 250 members.

Political Frameup

Meyers should inform the Conservation department representative that the Hansons wanted $40,080 for their land and the Lattas wanted $20,040.
Prescott, and the Meyerses "intended thereby to induce the purchase of said lands by the state of Illinois and thereby intended to defraud" the state of $7,120, according to the charges.
The indictments further allege that "by falsely stating to the authorized representatives of the department of conservation" the purchase prices, they caused state warrants to be drawn by the state auditor upon the state treasurer for $40,080 and $20,040 payable to the Hansons and Lattas, respectively.
The defendants are also charged with obtaining the endorsements of the Lattas and Hansons on the warrants by false pretenses.
Judge Zick granted Prescott's motion for 30 days to file his motion to quash when it was explained that Franklin J. Stransey, Savanna, one of his attorneys, would be busy with other affairs until that time. Meyers motion was allowed later in the afternoon yesterday.

Legless Vet Marries, Does Jitterbug Dance

Pittsburgh, Aug. 28 — (AP)—
The jitterbug dance performed by Robert Sorce, 21-year-old army veteran at his wedding was more than a sign of his nuptial bliss.
Sorce employs artificial legs as a result of being hit by German shell fragment in Luxembourg on Feb. 14, 1945.

Sorce underwent amputation at both legs and spent 17 months in hospitals. On his return to this country he told his sweetheart, pretty 19-year-old Catherine Murphy, that he didn't want to "burden" her but Catherine had different ideas.

Their wedding before their parish priest yesterday was climaxed by Robert's dance.
NOT QUITE EQUAL
Days and nights are not equal at the equator. From sunrise to sunset is about eight minutes longer due to the width of the donger, due to the bending of the sun's rays by the atmosphere which allows us to see the sun before it rises and after it sets.

Sidelights of Legion Meeting

New York, Aug. 28 — (AP)—
The men who used to ask "Where's Elmer?" and the younger ones who followed around have a new one for the 28th annual American Legion convention: "Hyar Queenie."

The "Queenie" who is being called and petted on Manhattan sidewalk is a non-existent black and white hound dog. Aiming a cane at a girl passerby's knees, a Legionnaire may be heard to explain: "Queenie's the dog's nouri dog 'e'ver saw—comes up to about here."

Opening day of the convention started off in good form: At 12:30 this morning the California delegation in the Hotel Tait and the Massachusetts delegation in the Victoria Hotel began hurling bags of water at each other. The bag's didn't carry across West 51st street, but some neat hits were scored on the ubiquitous "innocent bystander."

When the Legion held its 1937 convention here, police and firemen had to break up a water fight between the Tait and Victoria contingents. That time they used fire hoses.

One dime store was quickly sold out of toy handcuffs. The gag is to shake hands with a stranger effusively and walk away—leaving him manacled to a lamppost. The market in flowers that squirt water, firecrackers, outside snake versions of the jumping-jack and about anything else that will squirt, make noise or jump, has been brisk.

Buck Fulmer of Philadelphia is one Legionnaire who has been getting screams, and at least one whack with an umbrella, with this routine: in a paint-smeared smock he carefully dips a long paintbrush into a paint bucket and then swipes it across women's backs. (Trade secret: the brush is dry.)

Paul H. Griffith, national commander, twice yesterday urged the veterans to "please act like ladies and gentlemen" and show that the Legion "stands for law and order." Second time was at the opening of the annual meeting of the 10 and 8, Legion honor organization, which usually provides the highest of the high jinx.

One top-hatted visitor on Times Square was accosting passersby, asking: "Taking the train through to Buffalo? Going to Chicago? Making a trip to Los Angeles?" and whatever the answer, he punched a ticket and pressed it upon them.

Training Flights

training plan is bolstering the potential striking force guarding the western approaches to the United States.
New Strategy
The new strategy — a force of "very heavy bombardment" aircraft based in the United States but equipped and trained to hustle to any menaced spot in the world — began to emerge a year ago with the creation of the strategic air command. Its orders are to be "prepared to conduct long range operations in any part of the world, at any time either independently or in cooperation with land and sea forces."
In recent months, the AAF has disclosed plans to spot elements of the strategic air force at bases located on both coasts and in the midwest and Rocky Mountain area. From such of these bases as are already in use the training flights to Europe and Japan are being launched.

Truman To Address

of the armed forces of the American republics.

The military mechanism for the treaty is to be created at the Bogota conference.

PREPARATIONS

Washington, Aug. 28 — (AP)—
Bolo knives and carbines were added to the equipment of the new White House plane "Independence" today as the secret service completed preparations for President Truman's flight to Brazil.

Last night's announcement that the chief executive will leave Sunday for Rio De Janeiro to address the inter-American defense conference set an elaborate protection pattern in force.

Part of the flight will be over Brazil's formidable jungle.

Hence, with an eye to any eventuality, the secret service ordered the bolo knives which are designed for whacking a path through jungle growth and the rifles for protection against animal life as well as hostile tribesmen. The plane also will carry parachutes.

Truman's black, bullet-proof limousine and a heavy armored Secret Service car long since have been on their way by boat to the Brazilian capital for use during the president's six-day stay there.

Secret service agents already are at work in Rio surveying the buildings in which the president will appear and checking up on the many other details which are a standard formula for every presidential appearance.

Riding the new, blue-eagled DC-6 for the first time, the president will leave Washington at 8 a. m. (CDT) Sunday, planning to arrive in Rio the following afternoon after an overnight stop at Trinidad.

He will address the conference Tuesday and remain until Sunday to take part in the celebration of Brazil's 125th anniversary of independence.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said Truman probably will be back in Washington sometime between September 16 and 20.

the hand and arm, and Helton himself, shot to death.

Stemmed From Threat

State's Attorney Eugene Bland of Shelby county who attributed the shooting to young Helton said it apparently stemmed from a threat which the youth made two weeks ago to kill his wife.

Mrs. Helton and her brother were shot as they skated at a roller rink last night, and witnesses identified Helton as their assailant. They said he left the rink in a jeep. An hour later, police were summoned to the home of Helton's parents, where they found the elder Helton dead and Donald's mother shot in the hand and arm. Officers said the mother told them her son had shot his father and wounded her.

Short-short notes on local sports doings:
Ralph Stonehouse, one of the originators of the Indianapolis District Golf association, is enthused by the local DGA. He believes it has tremendous possibilities for firing up links interest hereabouts. Next year, we understand, several additional towns, such as Mendota, DeKalb, Princeton, Morrison, etc., will be invited to join.

John "Pinky" Walters will do his basketball playing this winter for Knacks, a switch from B & A, his 1936 outfit. "Pinky" rapped five homers for Knacks' hardball club this summer.

If you don't think softball equipment is expensive, talk with some of the local pilots. One team official has put out over $73 for softballs thus far.

Hunting permits for the Green River pheasant and rabbit preserve will not be granted by telephone this fall. Beginning Oct. 1, individuals may write to the state Department of Conservation, giving their names and addresses and the day or day on which they would like to hunt. The preserve is officially described as five miles north of Ohio.

Additional details on the electrocution and subsequent rebirth of life in Jim McClain, former DHS athlete, have come to light. Paul Law and Arnold Butterbaugh of Dixon helped bring back McClain from the dead, along with brother Don, Aug. 13, after he was struck by a bolt of lightning in a fish house near Hayward, Wis. It is reported that Law may receive a medal for heroism.

Leo Traister of Rock Falls is a returning grid letterman at Eureka (Ill.) college. Traister is a tackle on Coach Harold M. Barrow's Red Devils. Another area boy, Clarence Hasenwager of Walnut, is a newcomer expected to strengthen the squad.

Bill Bushman, aging "playing manager" of Three Deuces, showed 'em all how to do it last night by blasting out a line drive triple from the southpaw side of the plate. Bill was a pinch hitter in the seventh inning of his team's 12-10 airport softball league loss to Freeman's.

Are there enough old-timers, aged 50 or better, around town to form a couple of softball teams? George Reynolds and Bill Maloney want to stage an older's tilt. They promise free dinners to all team members. How about it fellas?

Mize Slams 43rd HR; Blackwell Wins 20th

(By The Associated Press)

What with a healthy 12½ game lead and an unhealthy pitching staff, Manager Stanley "Bucky" Harris of the New York Yankees would like to turn another page these days — if it's a page like Lefty Joe Page.

The stellar stalwart of the Yankee bullpen wound up a busy road trip with the Yanks at St. Louis yesterday, working in his seventh game of the 11-game western swing.

He took over in the sixth inning with the score tied at 6-all and held the Browns to three singles and no runs the rest of the way as the Yanks salvaged their fifth win in 11 invasion tries, 7-6 in ten innings.

At Detroit, the Red Sox and Tigers were dividing their second straight twin bill and taking turns keeping the second place seat warm. The Tigers ascended after beating Lefty Earl Johnson, 7-2, in the first game, after he'd held them to one hit for six innings.

The Red Sox came back in the afterpiece to win, 5-4 and resume second place, with ex-Tiger Birdie Tebbetts scoring once and batting in two more.

Feller Edges A's

Home runs accounted for all the scoring at Cleveland as the Indians and Bob Feller triumphed over the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-1.

Milo Candini's relief pitching gave Washington a 6-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the remaining American league contest.

These developments highlighted National league play:

1. Brooklyn, St. Louis and Boston, the three top clubs, all were beaten.

2. Johnny Mize cracked his 43rd home run of the year as the Giants beat the Cards 6-4 to go five games and four days ahead of Babe Ruth's 1927 circuit smashing schedule.

Cubs Stop Dodgers

3. Ewell "The Eel" Blackwell of Cincinnati became the first major leaguer this year to win 20 games as the Reds stopped the Braves, 4-2 in 10 innings.

The Chicago Cubs beat the Dodgers 6-3, running their string to four straight over the loop leaders. They had to beat Lefty Joe Hatten to do it. Hatten had beaten them eight straight times up to yesterday. Negro hurler Dan Bankhead saw his batting average shrink to .500 as he grounded out as a Brooks pinch hitter. He'd hit a homer in his only other major league time at bat Tuesday.

In the remaining National league game Dutch Leonard achieved his 16th victory for the tattered Philadelphia Phillies by outpitching Mel Queen of the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3.

Van Oosten Hurls Fine Two-Hitter

An evening of contrasts at the airport last night resulted in a free-swinging first tilt, captured by Freeman's 12-10, and a superb nightcap pitching duel, won by Paul Van Oosten and VFW, 3-2.

Here are the highlights, game-by-game:

FIRST GAME

Freeman's banged 12 hits off Joe Curlee to edge Three Deuces 12-10 as each club committed six errors.

Three Deuces belted Red Vivian for 11 hits as both clubs pounded out a total of five doubles and two triples.

SECOND GAME

Paul Van Oosten hurled superb two-hit ball and struck out 12 as the Vets edged Lakeshire-Marty and Manager Gus Martini, 3-2.

Martini was equally as good on the slab, being touched for only four hits while whiffing 10.

Errors cost Martini the decision. Only VFW's first run, which came in the opening stanza, was earned. The other two scores resulted from miscues. All in all, Lakeshire erred six times but VFW was perfect in the field.

Harv Van Oosten tallied the winning run in the sixth when he singled to right and circled the bases on Chuck Ramsey's three-base error.

Van Oosten, never better on the mound, gave up a hunt single to Hank Schumacher and a single through the box to Barney Marshall in the third, Marshall's blow scoring Schumacher and Ramsey, who had walked. Van was untouchable otherwise.

On Friday night these four clubs trade partners, VFW drawing Freeman's in the 11th and Three Deuces facing off opposite Lakeshire-Marty. VFW's game will be its season finale.

First official presentation will be a card of bouts Oct. 13, a Jaycee committee in charge of the plan announced.

Funds obtained from the cards, to be presented twice per month with Jack Beatty of Peoria as matchmaker, will be used to purchase two-way radio equipment for city and possibly county law enforcement.

Arthur Edson Tells Intimate Details of "Dream House"

By ARTHUR EDSON
Washington —(AP)— So you, too, want to own a little home of your own? You, too, have dreamed of a vine covered cottage—roses—green shutters—a fireplace—a well kept dog on a well kept lawn.

A home of your own.

That, probably more than anything else, is the American dream.

Well, I, too, have dreamed. Drag up a spare cloud, and I'll tell you about it.

Was it only two and a half years ago that we moved into our own mortgage-plattered dreamhouse, in what some humorist laughingly called a "development"?

Somehow, it seems longer. For now we know that:

1. New houses, like new babies, get the darndest things wrong with them.
2. Once upon a time, when something needed building, or fixing, a man was called in who knew something about building or fixing. Now, with help hard to find and harder to pay, the alleged man of the house goes groaning into action.

The pipes I've peered in! The paint I've scattered!

He Painted Extensively

I've painted until everyone must be convinced that I use turpentine for shaving lotion.

And the things I've built!

Drop in any day. We'll pull the splinter out of my fingers, build a bonfire and roast wienies.

I hadn't had much experience as a carpenter.

True, once in my youth, dreaming of a fabulous wealth, I planned a rabbit trap. Rabbits brought a dime a head in those days, and obviously offered a wonderful way to get rich quick.

Vernal Hankins and I worked all day building that trap. When we finally finished, dad said: "fine. What tree do you plan to hang it in?"

It turned out Dad was right. We put our trap in a blackjack tree, and a bluebird came and built her nest in it.

Years For Mondays

Despite this melancholy start, I have built things for my dreamhouse. Everything from shelves for the baby's room to a trellis for the roses.

I've worked. I've slaved. I've reached the point where I yearn for Mondays, so I can crawl to the office and rest up for the next weekend.

And what has this mad activity got me?

Well, two bedrooms still need redecorating. The fence needs painting. The windows need caulking. The lawn needs reseeding.

North Shore Bus Line Is Sought for Chicago

Chicago, Aug. 28 (AP) The Illinois Commerce Commission today was considering a request of the North Shore railway to operate a subsidiary bus line between Waukegan, Ill., and the Chicago Loop which would provide North Shore travelers with a choice between bus and electric railway transportation.

"Establishment of the proposed bus service will provide a distinct addition to the transportation facilities of all North Shore suburbs," Bernard J. Fallon, president of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railway, said yesterday in asking approval of the bus service.

"Combined with the frequent train schedules already in effect on the North Shore line it will give the communities between Waukegan and Chicago virtually a 15 minute service in both directions," Fallon added.

Fallon's petition said a new firm, the North Shore Bus company, wants to operate a fleet of modern buses at 30 minute intervals between the Edison street station on the Skokie Valley line west of the Waukegan business district, to the North Shore station at 223 South Wabash avenue Chicago.

Synthetic Fuel Will Be Big New U. S. Industry

Washington, Aug. 28—(AP)— James Boyd, director of the bureau of mines, predicted today that production of synthetic liquid fuels—still in an experimental stage—will develop within a few years into a great new U. S. industry.

The 42-year old Australian-born Boyd, a former dean of the Colorado School of Mines, was inducted into the bureau of directorship at the office of Interior Secretary Klug yesterday.

"As soon as the new industry is on its feet," Boyd told reporters, "the U. S. government should pull out of it. This field should and will be left to develop by private industry."

Boyd said the bureau of mines is consolidating into its files great masses of information on mines and mining resources, compiled during the war by such agencies as the War Production Board and the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

He added that the bureau is preparing to work out, with the geological survey, a long-range program for the measurement of natural resources and national stockpiles.

The weight of the earth's atmosphere has been estimated at more than five quadrillion tons.

Irate Housewives Put U. S. General to Flight

Tokyo, Aug. 28—(AP)—American housewives, irate over army orders to get all pees out of apartments and billets by noon tomorrow, said they put one of the occupation's top officers to flight today.

Twenty housewives stormed the headquarters command office of Brig. Gen. R. E. Starr. The general, the ladies said, retreated.

"He wouldn't see us and we were told we had to make an appointment," declared Mrs. William L. Coons of New York, wife of a first lieutenant. "He ran down the hall with his head down."

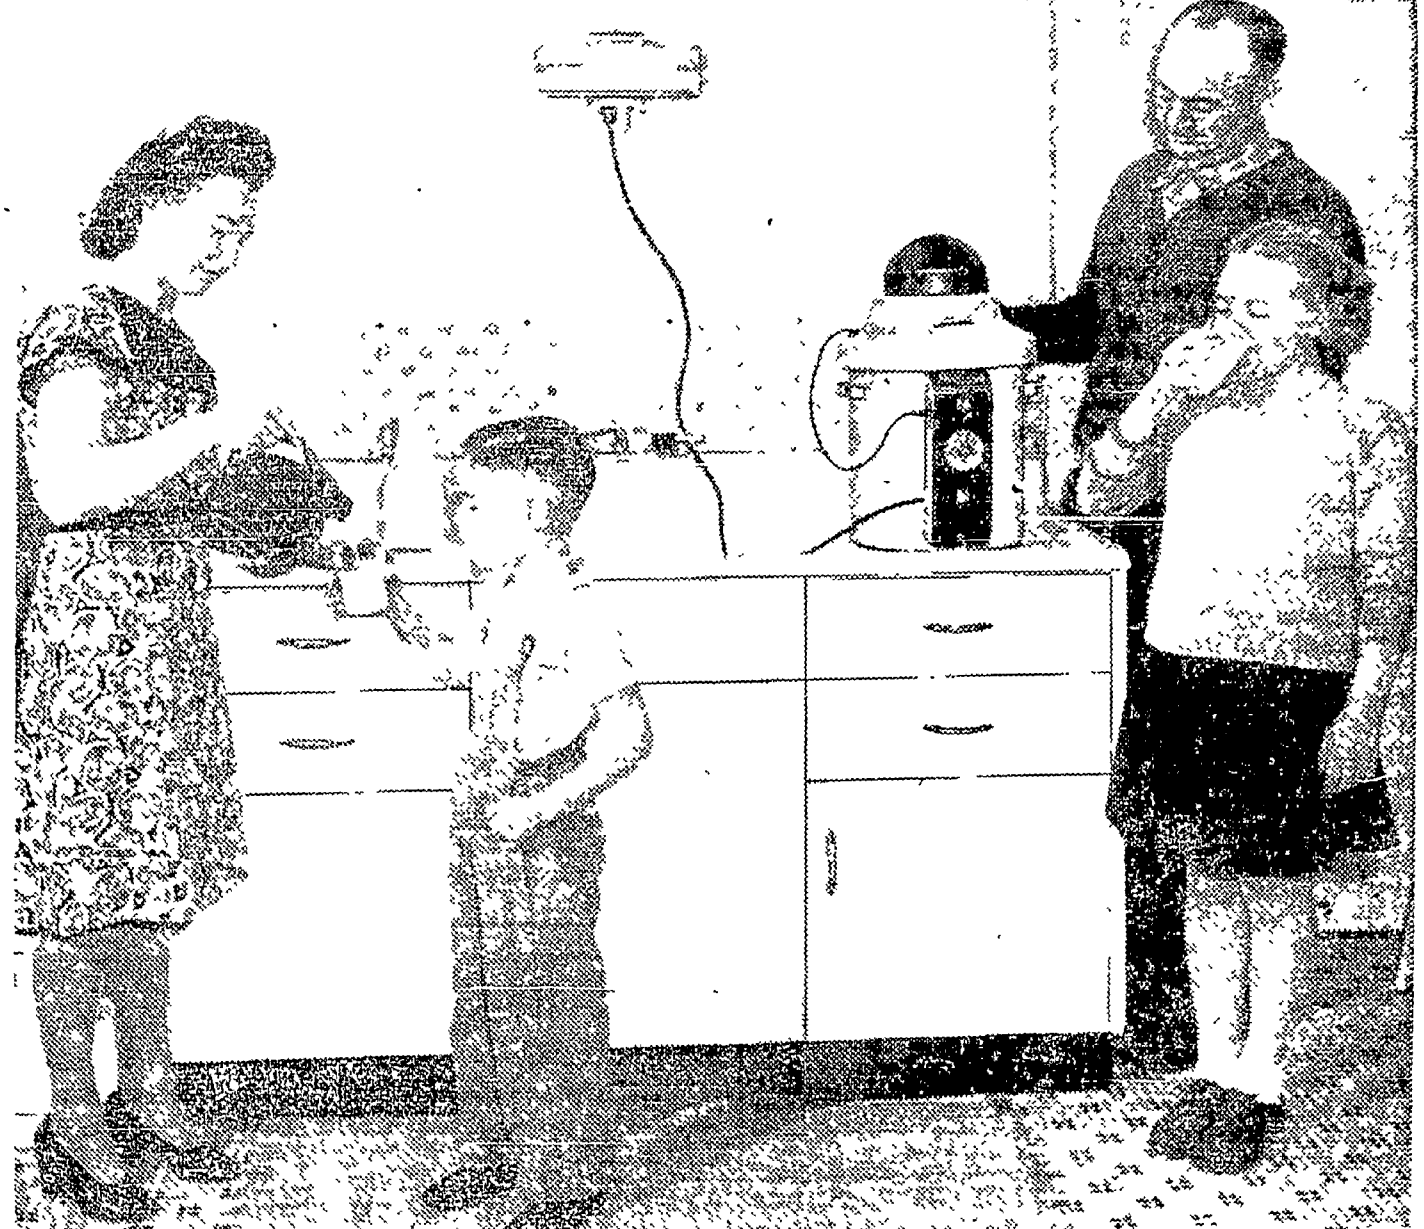

An unfounded rumor that families would have to kill their pets touched off the protest.

Iran Troops Move to Meet Border Forces

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 28—(AP)—An Iranian army staff officer said today army officials "accept as fact" reports that 8,000 armed men are massed on Iran's northern border in Russian Azerbaijan.

Two brigades of Iranian motorized troops, including a company of light tanks, moved out from Tehran yesterday for an announced destination.

... I think the herd is clean, but I'm not going to experiment on the family—we're pasteurizing all the milk and cream we use!*

* says dairyman Wesley Richard, Streator

Several years ago Wesley Richard lost his herd through Bang's disease. Luckily, he and his family escaped the milk-borne diseases that can be transferred through the drinking of raw milk.

Today, dairyman Richard has a reestablished herd, but he's taking no chances on his family's health. "I think the herd is clean," he says, "but I'm not going to experiment on the family—we're pasteurizing all the milk and cream we use!"

Peace of Mind... 1¢ per day!

Operation cost of the Richards' two-gallon capacity home pasteurizer is about 28¢ per month—less than a penny per day. They find it only necessary to pasteurize a few times a week and pasteurization is fully automatic—they simply set the controls. Thorough agitation, complete aeration, and uniform heating are other features of the pasteurizer.

Within the Reach of Every Family

Until recently, pasteurization equipment has been so costly that it was practical to use it only on a commercial basis. Now it is so economical to own and simple to use that no farm family can afford to be without it.

Many local dealers can offer you immediate delivery on a home pasteurizer. See it today... use it tomorrow and start drinking milk that is safe... and better tasting, too!

One-Plant Village May Be Saved by Housing Shortage

May Stop 'Ghost Town' Aftermath When Only Plant Closes

By MAURICE E. MORAN
Langeloth, Pa., (AP)—The housing shortage which has made life miserable for thousands is regarded by residents of this tiny community nestled hard by a grimy chemical plant as the means of saving their village from extinction.

These feelings are not prompted by selfishness toward their fellowman nor by a desire for profit from another's want.

The hope springs from a desire to see a closely-knit community life rally from the threat of a death blow which might turn the village into a "ghost town."

That hope is the impeding obstacle to the town's principal source of income and the center of most of the daily life of the men folk among Langeloth's 2,000 souls.

The American Zinc & Chemical Corp. has announced it will close its Langeloth plant employing 275 workers as soon as present supplies of raw materials are exhausted. That may be any time from next October to the first of the year.

There is an air of bewilderment about the village, which is surprisingly pretty considering its proximity to the industrial-soiled plant acreage. Few of the workers have plans for their future after the plant closes. The company owns 275 homes in the village and the tenants are uncertain as to the company owners about their final disposition.

Seeking to cushion the shock of the plant closing, the firm is paying workers, most of them members of the CIO-Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union, severance pay. The firm also is seeking a way to dispose of the homes which will be satisfactory to the tenants.

William Bable, 55, a plant worker 31 years, "doesn't know" what he's going to do about future employment but he said:

"I'm going to stay right here in Langeloth. I own my own home and nobody can take that away from me."

Then he stopped long enough in his chicken - feeding chore to indulge in this bit of backyard philosophy, shared by many residents:

"The housing shortage may keep the community from breaking up. It isn't like it used to be when people could uproot themselves to find new jobs. You can't find homes these days so I think our people will stay here, even if they have to drive to Winton (W. Va.), Stubeville (O.) or Pittsburgh to get work in the steel mills. Yes sir, that housing shortage may keep our village together."

Few feel bitterly toward the company. The majority accept it as a "tough break" for all concerned. There is a small group, however, which feels that the closing of the plant opened in 1914 is aimed at "breaking the back of the union."

Serious Business Confronts Legion in N. Y. Meetings

Legionnaires Throng Metropolitan Primed for Patriotic Action

New York, Aug. 28—(AP)—American Legionnaires from across the land thronged New York City today for a convention which, despite its hallmark of inhuman hothead, is primed for serious action on the questions of national defense and opposition to communism.

In a pre-convention report, the Legion's foreign relations committee called communism "the greatest menace in the field of international relations facing America," and strengthening the nation's armed might was urged by several military chiefs who appeared before Legion committees.

The 29th annual convention itself scheduled the big acts, but it brought with it plenty of side-shows almost one on every street corner. The 40 and 8, Legion honor organization, continued its meeting, and the Legion Auxiliary opened its separate convention this morning. Fifty founders of the Legion held their reunion last night.

Hear Deputy Chief Of Staff
Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, acting Army Deputy Chief of Staff, told a joint session of the Legion's five defense committees yesterday that he believed only a universal military training program would provide the 1,750,000 fighting men the nation would need for distant action in the event of war.

He said that "our only hope of preventing war is a sound, strong America."

The Army now has 600,000 ground troops and 400,000 airmen, the general said, and plans a National Guard strength of 700,000.

Maj. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, information director of the Army Air Forces, said that "it is necessary to strengthen defenses" in the Arctic because "the Russians are doing a great deal of work on the other side of the Arctic."

While world conditions remain unsettled, this country needs 5,000 planes annually, he said.

Hear About Submarines
Vice Adm. Forrest Sherman, deputy chief of naval operations, told the legion committees that "the largest and most unfriendly nation, as we see it today, has a submarine force of over 200 of the newest types."

As a result, he said, the navy is concentrating on perfecting anti-submarine devices. The admiral said also that the Navy had deployed units in Mediterranean waters to offset the relative weakness of our land-based troops, and that similar action was indicated for the Far Pacific.

Brig. Gen. James McCormack, Jr., director of military application of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, also addressed the committees.

Approve Marshall Plan
The Legion's foreign relations committee report, which supported the Marshall plan for European aid, was approved by the Legion's executive committee.

The purpose of the plan, the committee said, "is to maintain the bulwark in western Europe which at present is damming back the rising flood of communism. That dam is a fragile structure; and if it should break through the Red tide would rush through to the Atlantic seaboard. This is no figment of the imagination, but a real danger."

The committee also urged "strengthening the United Nations by eliminating the veto power in cases of aggression, by making the assembly more democratic, and by strengthening its power to enforce peace and resist aggression."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in a speech prepared for the convention's opening session and released in advance, declared today "it is our duty to provide a program involving participation by all able-bodied young American men under universal military training."

Dewey's statement was the first indication of his stand on the controversial subject of universal military training. The American Legion long has been a staunch advocate of such a training program.

The GOP 1944 standard bearer also said that "for the defense of the peace we must maintain a permanent military establishment adequate to the defense of this country at all times and also sufficient to perform our obligations to the United Nations."

Dewey said that "the hard fact is that genuine peace seems further away than ever" and added that "we are witnessing on the world scene conditions which are hauntingly like those which followed the first World War."

Pope Pius, Truman Exchange Letters on Peace Desires

Rome, Aug. 28—(AP)—The Vatican and the office of Myron Taylor, personal representative of President Truman to Pope Pius XII, released today an exchange of letters between the president and the Pontiff.

Truman's letter, dated Aug. 6, declared:

"Unless the moral forces of the world now join their strength, discouragement must inevitably deepen, and the strength and effectiveness which thereby would be lost by these moral forces, would be gained by those forces which oppose and seek to destroy them."

The Pope's letter, dated Aug. 26 from the pontifical summer residence at Castel Gandolfo, said:

"We hasten to express our satisfaction and thanks for this latest testimony to the desire and determination of a great and free people to dedicate themselves to the noble task of that peace for which all peoples of the earth are longing."

Praise for Charity

"The munificent charity shown by the American people to the suffering and oppressed in every part of the world is a fair token of their sincere desire for universal peace and prosperity. The vast majority of the peoples of the world, we feel sure, share that desire, even in countries where free expression is smothered."

"God grant their forces may be united towards its realization."

The president, declaring that "the tasks now confronting us are formidable," said:

"I am privileged to pledge full faith to you once again to work with Your Holiness and with every agency of good the world over for an enduring peace."

"An enduring peace," Truman asserted, "can be built only upon Christian principles. Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain who build it."

Tells Nation's Desires
"As a Christian nation our earnest desire is x x x to banish war and the causes of war from the world x x x I believe that the greatest need of the world today x x x is a renewal of faith. I seek to encourage renewed faith in the dignity and worth of the human mission name an "all Korean peoples assembly."

Maj. Gen. Albert E. Brown, chief of the U. S. delegation, had proposed the plebiscite to replace the oral consultations, which have been stalled because the two powers cannot agree on whom to consult.

person in all lands. The times demand faith that is strong enough to struggle if need be for the right."

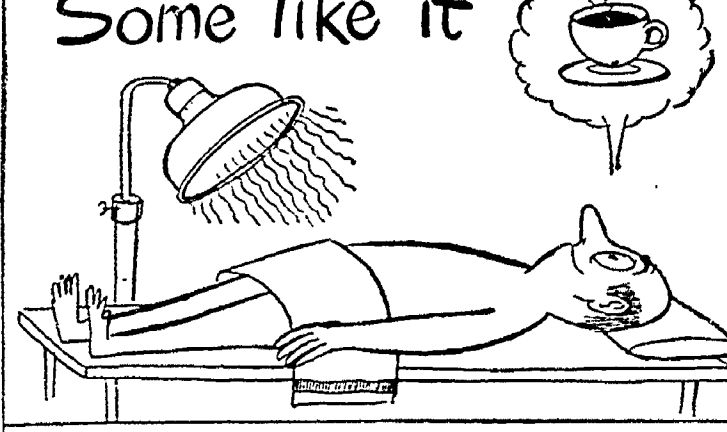

The Pontiff replied:

"Once the state, to the exclusion of God, makes itself the source of the rights of the human person, man is forthwith reduced to the condition of slave, of a mere civic commodity x x x the order of God is overturned; and history surely makes it clear x x x that the inevitable results of the subversion of order between peoples is war."

Landlord to Prison for Ignoring Court Order
Philadelphia, Aug. 28—(AP)—A landlord has been committed to prison for contempt of Federal court after a government attorney quoted him as saying "the moon will turn green" before he would refund rent overcharges to nine tenants.

Federal Judge James P. McGinnery told Abraham Weiner, operator of a small dry goods store, "you'll stay in prison until you comply with the order of the court."

Weiner was brought before Judge McGinnery yesterday after Conrad G. Moffatt, chief trial attorney for the Federal Housing Authority, accused him of refusing to follow a court order to refund overcharges to tenants and pay double damages to the government totalling $3,837.

Hungary's Labor Chief Won't Join Communist Lines

Would Like Foreign Loan But Wants No Strings Attached to It

(A profile of one of the most important politicians in Russia's sphere of influence is presented in this Daniel De Luce interview with Daniel De Luce interview with Hungarian labor leader Arpad Szakasits, whose power may be increased by results of next Sunday's general election.)

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Budapest—(AP)—The No. 1 labor leader in Hungary vows he never will wear a communist collar.

He may be the next prime minister, if his Social Democrats win a plurality of parliamentary seats in the national election Aug. 31, but he says he'd rather head his party than a government.

He started in life as a stone-cutter, but he has been writing poetry for 40 years.

Gray, bespectacled Arpad Szakasits now has become a sensation in the politics of eastern Europe.

Szakasits, a hearty 59, has been a trade union official since 1903, and "democratic evolution" is one of his favorite phrases.

Asked his opinion on the so-called Molotov plan, he replied that he didn't know it existed.

"I have been one of the creators of the present general economic cooperation of Danubian states," he continued, "for the ground work of this policy was laid at a social Democratic conference of the Danubian region last January."

He was incisive in his praise of the Soviet union, asserting Hungarian trade delegates in Moscow recently had been "treated as if the peace had already been signed."

"We felt far-reaching loyalty on the part of the Soviet union," he added, "but it is also quite natural that we want no barrier against the west."

He said all of Hungary had "welcomed with great joy" the conclusion in London of a three-year trade agreement with Great Britain and "we are nourishing great hopes that we will go far in this direction."

His comment on the United States was reserved:

"We would be glad to get foreign loans from any country, particularly from America, but there should be no political conditions attached. We have built up a vital country out of the ruins of war without any Molotov or Marshall plan. This way is hard and entails sacrifices, but it is certain that the people consider the sacrifices worthwhile and prefer them to dependence on some imperialistic power. Really, all sincere democrats, whether in America or Europe, should welcome what has happened here in Hungary."

Mt. Morris—A meeting with international flavor occurred in Mt. Morris last week when the Watt Publishing company was host to an outstanding Australian poultryman.

Althouse; and Turkey World, M. C. Small. Gould is president of the Poultry Farmers association of New South Wales state.

During his visit, which was arranged by O. A. Hanke, editorial director of the Watt Publishing company, he viewed Poultry Tribune Experimental farm, which is typical of the nation's specialized poultry farms.

Publisher J. W. Watt also enjoyed a discussion of the British Commonwealth of Nations, including his native Scotland.

The F. H. A. Chapter of the Mt. Morris high school was represented by Kathleen McNett, Janet McNett and Pat Wagner together with their F. H. A. Adviser, Mrs. John Reverts, at the Illinois State Fair. Blocked Security Council May Take Needed Vacation

Need New Approach to Problems Facing World Group

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
AP Foreign News Analyst

The security council needs a vacation—and a new start.

How can the 11 members of the key United Nations organization, charged with the responsibility of keeping the world at peace, take a rest now? There is trouble in Greece, fighting in Indonesia and strife aplenty elsewhere.

The reason is this: The delegates have done everything they can do at this stage in the game.

They must find a new approach to the situation. Several are hoping the general assembly will provide that approach. The assembly convenes Sept. 16.

This has been the most active summer in the United Nations' short history. It is evident that the delegates are getting tired of looking at the same old faces every day and that they need a change of scenery.

May Stop Tomorrow

There are some iron men on the council but even these would like a rest. The prospect now is a brief council vacation beginning tomorrow.

The United States has turned to the assembly as a sort of last resort to deal with the Balkans case.

Every move by the United States to set up a semi-permanent U. N. committee in the Balkans to help settle the troubles there has been resisted by the Soviet union, with a Russian veto capping the final moves in that respect.

Balked in the council by the veto, the U. S. is determined to air the whole thing in the assembly and try to bring to bear the weight of world opinion.

The veto, too, is another matter on which the U. N. needs a new approach. That device, brought up originally by the United States and eagerly grasped by Soviet Russia, has come into some disrepute by frequent usage—18 times by Russia and two by France.

Veto Lack of Force Hurt

But with all the furore from the small countries, the big powers are reluctant to yield that prerogative. The most that the opponents of the veto can expect now is to get the whole thing out of their systems on the assembly rostrums. For it is just about the one sure thing in the U. N. that the veto system as now constituted will not be changed this year.

The lack of the police force is another detriment to the council which must be overcome eventually.

So far the council can do nothing but issue verbal edicts, even when all powers agree, which is not often. The delegates and the planners of the U. N. look forward to the day when the council will have an international force which can be used to back up its words. That day appears far off.

So they all agree at Lake Success now that they need a vacation and some new ideas about how to preserve world peace.

Kewanee Vet Denies Wife Torture Charge

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 28 — (AP)—Robert E. Lewis, 25, of Kewanee, Ill., was ordered to trial Sept. 8 in Criminal court after he entered a not guilty plea to charges of torturing his estranged wife in a hotel room here last week.

Judge Edwin L. Jones set bond at $5,000.

Lewis was charged specifically with "a crime against nature" and "assault with intent to murder" his wife, Mrs. Jewell Ledford Lewis, 25, formerly of Cleveland, Tenn.

Mrs. Lewis said he beat her with a strap, cut his initials into one of her thighs and forced her to cut her initials in one of his thighs. She quoted him as saying the beating was to show that she still was married to him.

County Attorney Wayne Ripley said Lewis told him he was too drunk at the time to know much of what happened.

Food Surveys Fail Because of Black Markets in Europe

Congressional Probers Take Report With Them on Tour

Washington, Aug. 28. (AP)—Black market operations make it "difficult, if not impossible," for European nations to survey their food resources accurately, an Agriculture department report contends.

The document, bearing a "confidential" label, was prepared for a congressional investigation committee which sailed for Europe yesterday to make a first-hand study of foreign needs.

A copy of the 97-page report was made available to a reporter.

It provides a country-by-country summary of food and agricultural conditions throughout western Europe based on "the latest information available."

Figures Don't Jibe

The forward, however, says the report has been classified as confidential because "the production figures for some countries will not agree with the official estimates supplied by the minister of agriculture."

No countries in this category were listed by name. But the report itself says that throughout Europe "government intervention is general in the production, collection and distribution of most agricultural products."

"This intervention has been linked with a system of compulsory farm collections and fixed prices to farmers."

"Because of the shortages of food, this system of distribution has made it profitable for farmers in most countries to market any surplus products through black markets."

Hard To Estimate Needs

"It has encouraged farmers to underestimate their production in order to reduce the quantities which they must deliver to the government and leave them additional quantities which they can dispose of more profitably."

"This bias in production estimates makes it difficult, if not impossible, for governments to estimate accurately their domestic food output."

Even the figures submitted to the International Emergency Food Council (IEFC) probably are inaccurate in some cases, the report declares.

This is true because, since the IEFC apportions food supplies on a basis of need rather than ability to pay, "it is in the interest of countries to report their production as low as possible."

The report was prepared by the Agriculture department's office of foreign agricultural relations at the specific request of Rep. August H. Anderson (R-Minn.) and is chairman of a subcommittee of the 19-member special house committee on foreign aid.

Boy Dislikes Brooklyn, Runs Away From Home

New York, Aug. 28. (AP)—Leonard Giordano, 17, would rather sleep back of a billboard in the Bronx, which reminds him of "the fields and trees in Maryland," than live with his parents in Brooklyn.

Moreover, the boy did just that for more than three weeks, said police who found the runaway last night. He had built a shelter behind a billboard, made a little money running errands, and spent a lot of time in the movies.

"I just want to get out of Brooklyn," young Giordano told police. "I can't get used to it. The only thing I like about it is the Dodgers."

Fred Giordano, Brooklyn carpenter, reported his son missing Aug. 5 and told police he might show up in the Capitol Heights section of Maryland, where the family lived until four years ago.

Detectives asked the boy if he liked the Bronx.

"It's much better than Brooklyn," Leonard said, "but I'd like Maryland better."

U. S. Must Increase Scientific Research, Steelman Declares

Falling Behind Will Put Nation Under Severe Handicap

Washington, Aug. 28. (AP)—Presidential Assistant John H. Steelman declared today "National survival" demands that the United States sharply increase its spending for scientific research.

In his first report as chairman of the president's scientific research board, Steelman said "no responsible person can fail to recognize the uneasy character of the present peace."

And a nation which falls behind in fundamental scientific knowledge he advised Mr. Truman, "would be severely handicapped in any future war."

Stelman proposed that by 1955, public and private outlays for advancing research should be at the rate of 1 per cent of the national income, or an estimated $2,000,- 000,000 a year.

This would be twice the present rate, but Steelman's report said it would be a bare minimum "if we are to remain a bulwark of democracy in the world."

Imported Theory Before

Mr. Truman released the report along with a statement of his own saying:

"We must constantly enlarge the boundaries of scientific knowledge in order to continue to provide the benefit of full production and full employment, and in order to protect our democracy from the dangers it faces in an uneasy world."

In the past, the Steelman report said, "we have imported our theory from abroad and concentrated on its application to concrete and immediate problems"—as in the case of the atomic bomb.

Since the war, however, Europe's laboratories have been blocked out and are likely to remain so as long as the unsettled state of the world continues."

Reds Train 140,000 Annually

Hence "for the first time in our history we are on our own so far as the extension of knowledge is concerned."

Stelman noted that "it is commonly said that another war would be fought with pushbuttons; that development in electronics and other areas will lead to the development of completely automatic weapons."

This is "altogether likely," he said, "but knowledge precedes pushbuttons and theory precedes its application."

Stelman said Russia's 1947 budget is reported to provide $1,200,000,000 for research and "in addition the Russians have embarked upon a five-year program of stepped-up scientific training, under which they are reported to be producing 140,000 engineers and scientists each year."

By contrast, he said, the United States has "no unified or comprehensive policy on scientific research or the support of science."

Stelman said the government would have to provide the money for at least half of the expanded research program, as it does now.

He estimated that industry, independently, can be counted on to double its own spending for the purpose in the next 10 years.

Community Chest May Result from Conference Here

A meeting of representatives of 5 service, civic, religious and social organizations of the city was held Tuesday night at the Love and Community House to discuss the establishment of a Dixon Community Chest. Robert L. Varner, president of the Chamber of Commerce called the meeting to order and explained that upon requests from citizens and clubs the Chamber of Commerce had investigated the operation of community chests in other cities and had secured printed information regarding the methods of organization and operation of these chests, which had been sent to various churches, clubs and fraternal orders with the invitation to attend this meeting.

Have Proved Efficient
An extended discussion brought out the facts that Community Chests in other cities had secured the funds asked for by agencies with less expenditure of time and effort, more economically and had eliminated the duplication of effort involved in the solicitation of funds by individual organizations. The business men of these places and the citizens in general were pleased because they were not continually called upon for contributions and could budget their gifts.

The meeting agreed to form a temporary organization for the purpose of further study and action in this matter and Col. John E. Earle representing the Dixon Lions Club was elected temporary chairman. He appointed Mrs. Dale Flynn, American Legion auxiliary, acting secretary and a committee of six to study the material at hand and the local situation and the sentiment of Dixon citizens with respect to a Community Chest and to prepare a proposed organization which may be presented for consideration at a meeting to be held in the next thirty days.

Ogle County Farm Home Is Destroyed

A $15,000 farm home seven miles southwest of Polo, recently remodeled, burned to the ground yesterday afternoon while the Haines family, occupants of the residence, were attending the Morrison fair.

The house, owned by Charles Gatz, was reportedly covered by only $3,500 insurance.

The fire was discovered by neighbors, who called the Polo fire department at approximately 2:30 p. m., but the farm's water supply was not large enough to quell the blaze and firemen concentrated on saving nearby buildings.

Some furniture and clothing was saved. Cause of the fire was not determined.
